January 12th, 2017 Listen: You Might Learn Something

Most of us think we are good listeners. Experiencing great conversations doesn't necessarily mean you are a good listener, especially if one person is doing most of the talking.

Have you ever been cut off in mid-sentence? Do you finish the thoughts of other people? Have you tuned someone out because you already know what they are going to say? In Listen: You Might Learn Something, you will learn where you fall on the "listen meter" by using interactive games and exercises that are designed to create a better understanding of the listening process and how to stay in the moment.

If you like participating or watching improv, this interactive session is for you. The workshop will prove how high level listening and questioning skills will increase communication and build stronger personal and professional relationships.
