

Currently serving as the interim CMIO at WellStar health system in Atlanta, Stephen is as knowledgeable as they come in mapping system capabilities to Epic functionality and assuring patients want to stick with their health system. An Internal Medicine physician, board certified in clinical informatics, a recognized public speaker, and an active member in the HIMSS community, Stephen has worked with Epic for more than 20 years and is an expert in engaging executives and clinicians through innovative process redesign. When not hiking with a camera in hand or reading up on the latest in HIE, telehealth, or population health, you'll find him intimately and gracefully identifying operational inefficiencies with everyone from the C-suite to the physicians.
